Television Production Workshop

The Centre for Media Studies organized a TVP workshop on 28.08.2018 at Multimedia Lab. Assistant director and VFX artist Mr. Murali Krishnan R. handled the session with television production inputs. The session was organized with both lecture and practical explanations. The resource person shared his experience about working assistant director for the movie “Kolamavu Kokila”. It was an interactive session for the students to ask questions to the resource person. The next half of the session was done with practical demonstration of lighting technique in green matte studio. The resource person also gave input about working with VFX in green matte studio. Live video recording and green matte editing technique was taught to the students on the practical sessions. Thus the workshop ended with a Q and A Session on various television production techniques.

Counsellors Training Program

Career Counselling is a basic factor for distinguishing the genuine potential and required skills graduating students need to pursue the professional path. Students need to know the significance of professional training and right direction before they choose a place in the field of psychology in addition to the wake of taking the board tests. As an initiative for career orientation of the undergraduate students of psychology, a six day workshop titled Counsellors Training Program was conducted in association with Sadhbava Counselling and Training Services, Chennai, during 3 - 8 September, 2018. Ms. Hemamalini Lakshminarasimhan facilitated the workshop as the resource person. 30 undergraduate students participated of which 10 students belonged to other colleges.

Ms. Hemamalini, started Day 1 of the workshop with ice breakers and gathered the inputs as expectations of workshop. Fun tasks were assigned to upgrade collaboration among members and they were gotten some information about Counselling aptitudes. The fallacies of counselling and guidance were featured and comprehended. Day 2 exchanges prompted the comprehension of do's and don'ts in counselling though Day 3 tended to the essential phases of counseling alongside issues identified with professional practice. Participants appreciated the learning of SOLER method at Day 4 and the preparation program finished at Day 6 with introduction towards different territories of Counselling. From the participants' view, the training program was very much helpful and it opened new avenues for undergraduate students of psychology in their career building.

Day – 1

The first lecture session of the workshop was delivered by Mr. Varun Pathak, Senior Security Analyst, PwC, Gurgaon, India. He started with a keynote lecture about the basics of Ethical Hacking. He explained on the various types of hackers and covered the necessity of hats and security hackers. In the second session, the core part of Hacking and case studies were covered. It includes the real time practice of Injections which consists of SQL Injection, Server Side Injection, Command Injection and HTML Injection. These topics were handled in great detail. To illustrate the topic of broken authentication and session management, he explained the practical aspects of insecure login forms, password attacks, session management and session management on administrator portals. He had also covered the cross site scripting concept to create awareness about XSS to send a malicious script to an unsuspecting user. He delivered details about the types of XSS with practical approaches. The session was followed by vulnerability assessment and software penetration testing.

Day – 2

The Second day sessions were once again handled by Mr. Varun Pathak. He started the first session of second day with the discussion of insecure direct object reference which mainly focused on manipulation and unauthorised access of data. The main focus of this session was security misconfiguration which includes the application frameworks, application server, web server, database server and platform secure setting configuration. The implementation and maintenance of the same was also addressed. According to him many web applications do not protect the sensitive data so attacker can easily modify protected data. Hence he taught how to take extra protection of sensitive data as well as how to take special precautions while exchanging the data with browser. 5 participants were selected for II Round to be conducted by Delhi IIT.
